Friday 28 January 2022

As I'm sure you are aware, cases of Covid are still present in our school and are now scattered across nearly every year group but we are hopeful that we are 'reaching the peak'. Thank you again to all those who are testing their children everyday for 7 days whenever we have requested it as it really is the best way to catch infections early before they spread too far. That being said, while we understand and share parental concern, we are not permitted to authorise any pupils being absent 'just in case' they catch Covid and we are already going above and beyond the measures suggested by Public Health England in an effort to bring the current outbreak to an end. We are not alone with the current challenges and primary schools across the county are facing similar levels of infection, if not worse. Thankfully, as has been seen nationally, all the people who have tested positive in the last two weeks have experienced much milder illness than earlier on in the pandemic. Thank you as ever for your support and understanding.
